

Remote Access to Windows Desktop

In order to gain access to your Windows Desktop the computer group has to enable your account for remote desktop access. Please mail helpdesk @ physics.leidenuniv.nl with the request to enable your account for remote access.

After that you can run below manual which explains you how to install and configure the Tunnelier software. If you have problems setting up the connection or configuring the software, please drop by at the Computer group HL406.
